

Recent and Upcoming

Events, Articles, Books, and Calls for Work

Events

American Academy of Religion / Society of Biblical Literature

Topic: Theopoetics and Communities of Practice

Saturday, November 19, 2016 | Time TBD

San Antonio, TX | Room Location TBD

Additional Information is here.

Theology and Religious Reflection Section of AAR

Theme: Religious Aesthetics, Theology, and the Humanities

Saturday, November 19, 2016 | 9:00 AM-11:30 AM

San Antonio, TX | Grand Hyatt-Bonham E (3rd Level)

Additional Information is here.

New Certificate Available: “Theopoetics & Theological Imagination”

Bethany Theological Seminary now is enrolling people for low-residency graduate work in theopoetics.

Available both at the Richmond, IN campus and online.

Additional Information is here.

Poesis: The Language of Creation

Thom Caraway's Whitworth University Faculty Lecture

Topic: An exploration of theopoetics and contemporary poetry of witness.

Whitworth University | Spokane, WA

September 13, 2016 | 7PM

Books

A Beautiful Bricolage: Theopoetics as God-Talk for Our Time

Silas Krabbe, 2016: Wipf & Stock

ISBN: 978-1-4982-9535-2 | Want to Review?

“Imagination and Religious Education”

Thematic Issue of the journal Religious Education 111.4 (2016)

Article access is here.

The Wisdom Commentary Series: Philippians, Colossians, Philemon

Cynthia Briggs Kittredge, Claire Miller Columbo, et al., 2016: Liturgical Press

The series is feminist in approach and focus, but the Kittredge and Columbo commentary on Colossians is overtly theopoetic in its reading of the letter.

ISBN: 978-0-8146-8200-5 | More Information is here.

Calls for Work

Theopoetics: A Transdisciplinary Conference with Workshops and Dialogue

The Association for Theopoetics Research and Exploration

March 10 – 12, 2016 | Cincinnati, OH

A gathering for those whose interests live at — or near — the intersection of theology with imagination, aesthetics, embodiment, and literature. The interplay of these areas with one another has come to be named as theopoetics, the focus of the event. Organized for theological scholars, religious practitioners, and those who are both, this conference will be a mix of academic discussions, facilitated dialogue, and workshops focused on developing practices that can be taken back to share with our communities of support and accountability.

Conference organizers are looking for Presentations, Talks, Papers, Workshops, and PechaKuchas.

More Information is Here